st nations as part of a new strategic collaboration agreement announced by CONMEBOL and CONCACAF. CONCACAF's new president, Ricardo Montalban, said the agreement is a significant step towards creating a unified football market in the Americas. The agreement will allow for the creation of a new league, the CONCACAF Champions Cup, which will replace the current CONCACAF Champions League. The new league will be a single-elimination tournament, similar to the UEFA Champions League. The agreement also includes provisions for the development of football in the region, including the creation of a youth league and the expansion of the CONCACAF Cup. The agreement is expected to be finalized in the next few months.
