This means that you not only have to predict which team will win but also how many goals they will score. This is the Early Payout feature, a tool interesting for bettors who want to guarantee their profits before the end of the event. This feature, also known as "Early Payout", allows bettors to secure their profits before the final whistle of the match. Early Payout is available on 2 up bets and how it works? In the context of the platform, the Early Payout feature applies only to bets related to the winner of the match. This means that if you made a bet on a team that you think will win the match and the Early Payout feature is activated, you will receive your profits, even before the final whistle. It is important to highlight that, even if the match ends with a victory for the chosen team, the payment will be made only once. The early payout rate is calculated based on various factors, including the game flow, the time remaining in the game, the current odds for the result and the historical odds and victory probability based on the game data. During the match, the early payout rates can vary depending on the form in which the game is developing. This means that if the chosen team is winning with a large margin, the early payout rate will be lower, while if the game is more balanced, the rate will be higher. If the game is more balanced, this rate will be higher. You can also get ESPN from a transmissão de TV de rede. O que você pode fazer?
